Hi Jeff - Hi Neil

I sent you both an invite for the Tuesday meeting. On your designated time, access the site and I will switch the presentation to you to control from your own screen. We are using "Microsoft Teams".

I'll be on the line the entire time and below is my phone number. I'm not quite sure what I can do if your power goes out but I'll do whatever needs to be done.

Sincerely,

Hi all,

I just wanted to be clear about what EPA is presenting next Tuesday. There are actually 2 of us who are presenting, myself and Neil Anderson who is the deputy director in the BEAD division where the lab is housed that is doing the analytical work on the containers.

I am going to provide information on the general activities which are ongoing in the Agency related to PFAS. Neil is going to discuss the specifics of the container issue.

Neil is going to need the agenda and links to access the meeting.

Logistical questions – are we presenting from our own computers/sharing are do you need the slides in advance so you can host? Also, I don't see a back up phone number to call in should there be a tech failure... (e.g., Neil or I lose power or internet mid presentation). Am only bringing this up because its happened to me a couple of times.

Thanks and hope this helps clarify what we were planning.

Please let Neil or I know if you have questions/additional info.

Jeff
